3. Proof of English proficiency for non-native speakers.

Continuous Admissions Policy

St. Thomas University has a continuous admissions policy, meaning that students can apply and enroll at any time during the year. The university offers rolling admissions, allowing students to apply and be accepted for admission at any time throughout the year. This policy is designed to provide flexibility for students who may not have a traditional academic calendar. The university's admissions office will review applications on an ongoing basis, and students can be accepted for admission at any time. The university's rolling admissions policy is a key feature of its commitment to providing a supportive and flexible learning environment for all students.
